Win the chance to design the face of DAF!

Photography & Illustration Competition

DAF 2015 (20-28 June)

Artists and photographers are invited to create the face of Didsbury Arts Festival 2015!

DAF organisers have launched a competition to design the lead image to represent this year's festival. The winning photograph or illustration, which must reflect this year's festival theme, In-between Places, will be displayed on DAF posters, programmes and all marketing material.

Said DAF Director, Daniel Williamson: 'This is an exciting opportunity for artists and photographers of all types to respond creatively to this year's festival theme, which celebrates Didsbury's position as an interesting and vibrant suburb, or in-between place; where city and country blend.'

'We are interested in what it takes to escape from what H.G. Wells described as 'the whirlpool cities' and explore hidden suburban gems. The Festival will question what it means to live and make artwork that is located on the peripheral zone or outer edge.'
The closing date for competition entries is Monday 16 March.
